

Stages of connecting with people:

Levels of most influence

In all social interactions both physical and digital being personal matters. The more enthusiastic you are in giving invites and the more positive you are in attitude the better.

Pretend when greeting people that the person you are talking to or calling is “your long-lost best friend” in tone and attitude. This really helps connect and make a good impression.

We need to look at people with love, compassion, and care and as if they matter when we try to help people with the gospel.

Note these steps can be used not just to reach the lost but also in our interactions with recruiting COC members to do evangelism or when working with an evangelism group or other special spiritual activities.
